

AN EVENING WITH SIR MICHAEL PARKINSON

FOR

HELP for HEROES

Support For Our Wounded

THE CIVIC HALL WOLVERHAMPTON
TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 29TH 2009 AT 7.30PM

Growing up in a Yorkshire mining village, a young Michael Parkinson dreamed of playing cricket for England, becoming Humphrey Bogart and kissing Lauren Bacall. Well at least he managed that last wish...

Over the course of this special evening, Sir Michael Parkinson will reflect on more than 45 years in broadcasting, from the days of questioning a fresh faced Mick Jagger to his legendary encounters with some of the biggest names of the 20th Century. Featuring handpicked highlights from his favourite interviews, and long lost footage of his encounter with John Lennon and Yoko Ono, Sir Michael will provide a unique insight into just what it was like to sit in that chair.

THE EVENING WILL COMMENCE WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY BRYN PARRY

(Co-founder and Chief Executive of Help for Heroes)
